Topic 820, “Fair Value Measurement” establishes a single authoritative definition of fair value under U.S. GAAP, sets out a framework for measuring fair value and requires additional disclosures about fair value measurements. Various inputs are used in determining the value of a Fund's investments under FASB ASC Topic 820 guidance and are summarized into three broad categories. Level 1 includes valuations based on quoted prices of identical securities in active markets, including valuations for investments in mutual funds. Investments in the Underlying Funds and Master Funds are categorized as Level 1 within FASB ASC Topic 820 fair value hierarchy. The Level 1 valuation assets for the Funds can be referenced in the Schedules of Investments.

(b) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.

(c) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(d) The security is a direct debt of the agency and not collateralized by mortgages.

(e) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $1,791 and 0.2% of the Fund.

(f) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.

(g) Convertible security.

(h) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(i) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.

(j) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(k) Investment in affiliate.

(l) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

[1] Certain investments that are measured at fair value using the NAV per share practical expedient have not been classified in the fair value hierarchy. The fair value amounts presented in this table are intended to permit reconciliation of the fair value hierarchy to the amounts presented in the Schedule of Investments. Although there can be no assurance, in general, the fair value of the investment using the NAV per share practical expedient is the amount the owner of such investment might reasonably expect to receive in an orderly transaction between market participants upon its current sale.

[2] Unfunded commitments are not reflected in total investments in the Schedule of Investments. Net unrealized appreciation is reflected as an asset and net unrealized depreciation is reflected as a liability in the table. See Unfunded Commitments table following the Schedule of Investments.

[3] All derivatives, except for purchased and written options, are reflected at the unrealized appreciation (depreciation) on the instrument. Purchased and written options are reflected at value.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(b) This senior floating rate interest will settle after December 31, 2025. If a reference rate and spread is presented, it will go into effect upon settlement.

(c) Pay-in-kind security. Stated coupon is the pay-in-kind rate. The interest earned by the security may be paid in cash or additional par.

(d) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 3 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(e) Non-income producing security.

(f) As of December 31, 2025, issuer was in bankruptcy and/or was in default relating to principal and/or interest. Partial or no payments were paid on the last interest or dividend date.

(g) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $35,929 and 3.9% of the Fund.

(h) Perpetual security. Next contractual call price and date are presented in parentheses, if applicable.

(i) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.

(j) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.

(k) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 2 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(l) Contingent distributions represent the right to receive additional distributions, if any, during the reorganization of the underlying company.

(m) Investment in affiliate.

(n) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(l) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.
(m) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(n) As of December 31, 2025, issuer was in bankruptcy and/or was in default relating to principal and/or interest. Partial or no payments were paid on the last interest or dividend date.
(o) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(p) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.
(q) The coupon rate represents the weighted average coupon and may differ from the stated coupon rate.
(r) This senior floating rate interest will settle after December 31, 2025. If a reference rate and spread is presented, it will go into effect upon settlement.
(s) All or a portion of the security was purchased on a delayed delivery basis. As of December 31, 2025, the total payable for investments purchased on a delayed delivery basis was $18,839.
(t) Treasury inflation indexed note, par amount is not adjusted for inflation.
(u) Treasury inflation indexed note, par amount is adjusted for inflation.
(v) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(b) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.

(c) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.

(d) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.

(e) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $216,428 and 8.5% of the Fund.

(f) Treasury inflation indexed note, par amount is adjusted for inflation.

(g) Perpetual security. Next contractual call price and date are presented in parentheses, if applicable.

(h) Non-income producing security.

(i) As of December 31, 2025, issuer was in bankruptcy and/or was in default relating to principal and/or interest. Partial or no payments were paid on the last interest or dividend date.

(j) Pay-in-kind security. Stated coupon is the pay-in-kind rate. The interest earned by the security may be paid in cash or additional par.

(k) Convertible security.

(l) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(m) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(n) The coupon rate represents the weighted average coupon and may differ from the stated coupon rate.

(o) This senior floating rate interest will settle after December 31, 2025. If a reference rate and spread is presented, it will go into effect upon settlement.

(p) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 3 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(q) Contingent distributions represent the right to receive additional distributions, if any, during the reorganization of the underlying company.

(r) Investment in affiliate.

(s) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(b) Treasury inflation indexed note, par amount is adjusted for inflation.

(c) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(d) The coupon rate represents the weighted average coupon and may differ from the stated coupon rate.

(e) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $1,008 and 0.1% of the Fund.

(f) Investment in affiliate.

(g) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(j) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.
(k) Treasury inflation indexed note, par amount is adjusted for inflation.
(l) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 3 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(n) Convertible security.
(o) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(p) Pay-in-kind security. Stated coupon is the pay-in-kind rate. The interest earned by the security may be paid in cash or additional par.
(q) The coupon rate represents the weighted average coupon and may differ from the stated coupon rate.
(r) This senior floating rate interest will settle after December 31, 2025. If a reference rate and spread is presented, it will go into effect upon settlement.
(s) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 2 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(a) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.

(b) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $382,868 and 27.3% of the Fund.

(c) Perpetual security. Next contractual call price and date are presented in parentheses, if applicable.

(d) Pay-in-kind security. Stated coupon is the pay-in-kind rate. The interest earned by the security may be paid in cash or additional par.

(e) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(f) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(g) Non-income producing security.

(h) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(i) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 2 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(j) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.

(k) Convertible security.

(l) This senior floating rate interest will settle after December 31, 2025. If a reference rate and spread is presented, it will go into effect upon settlement.

(m) Investment in affiliate.

(n) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Non-income producing security.
(b) All or a portion of the security is pledged or segregated as collateral.
(c) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 3 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.
(d) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.
(e) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.
(f) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $130,555 and 14.8% of the Fund.
(g) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.
(h) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(i) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(j) Pay-in-kind security. Stated coupon is the pay-in-kind rate. The interest earned by the security may be paid in cash or additional par.
(k) Convertible security.
(l) As of December 31, 2025, issuer was in bankruptcy and/or was in default relating to principal and/or interest. Partial or no payments were paid on the last interest or dividend date.
(m) Perpetual security. Next contractual call price and date are presented in parentheses, if applicable.

(n) Investment in affiliate.

(o) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.
(b) The security is a direct debt of the agency and not collateralized by mortgages.
(c) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.
(d) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(e) The coupon rate represents the weighted average coupon and may differ from the stated coupon rate.
(f) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $10,250 and 0.8% of the Fund.
(g) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.
(h) Investment in affiliate.
(i) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $213,569 and 30.0% of the Fund.
(b) Convertible security.
(c) Security issued with a zero coupon. Income is recognized through the accretion of discount.
(d) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.
(e) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(f) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.
(g) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.
(h) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.
(i) The security is a direct debt of the agency and not collateralized by mortgages.
(j) This senior floating rate interest will settle after December 31, 2025. If a reference rate and spread is presented, it will go into effect upon settlement.
(k) Investment in affiliate.
(l) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(b) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $2,922 and 6.5% of the Fund.

(c) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.

(d) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(e) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(f) Investment in affiliate.

(g) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(b) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $4,840 and 4.1% of the Fund.

(c) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.

(d) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(e) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(f) Investment in affiliate.

(g) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.

(a) All or a portion of the security was purchased on a delayed delivery basis. As of December 31, 2025, the total payable for investments purchased on a delayed delivery basis was $95,286.

(b) Security has a variable rate. Interest rates reset periodically. Rate stated was in effect as of December 31, 2025. For securities based on a published reference rate and spread, the reference rate and spread are presented. Certain variable rate securities do not indicate a reference rate and spread because they are determined by the issuer, remarketing agent, or offering documents and are based on current market conditions. The coupon rate for securities with certain features outlined in the offering documents may vary from the stated reference rate and spread. This includes, but is not limited to, securities with deferred rates, contingent distributions, caps, floors, and fixed-rate to float-rate features. In addition, variable rates for government and agency collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMO") and mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") are determined by tranches of underlying mortgage-backed security pools' cash flows into securities and pass-through rates which reflect the rate earned on the asset pool after management and guarantee fees are paid to the securitizing corporation. CMO and MBS variable rates are determined by a formula set forth in the security's offering documents.

(c) Security is exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. As of December 31, 2025, the value and the percentage of net assets of these securities was $176,867 and 16.4% of the Fund.

(d) Security is a step-up bond where the coupon may increase or step up at a future date or as the result of an upgrade or downgrade to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(e) Security is restricted to resale to institutional investors or subject to trading restrictions due to sanctions on foreign issuers. See Restricted Securities table following the Schedules of Investments.

(f) All or a portion of the security was on loan as of December 31, 2025.

(g) Perpetual security. Next contractual call price and date are presented in parentheses, if applicable.

(h) Convertible security.

(i) The interest rate for this security is inversely affected by upgrades or downgrades to the credit rating of the issuer. Rate stated was the coupon as of December 31, 2025.

(j) Pay-in-kind security. Stated coupon is the pay-in-kind rate. The interest earned by the security may be paid in cash or additional par.

(k) Non-income producing security.

(l) As of December 31, 2025, issuer was in bankruptcy and/or was in default relating to principal and/or interest. Partial or no payments were paid on the last interest or dividend date.

(m) The coupon rate represents the weighted average coupon and may differ from the stated coupon rate.

(n) Security fair valued in good faith as a Level 3 security in accordance with the procedures approved by the Board of Trustees. Good faith fair valued securities are classified based on the applicable valuation inputs. See "Fair Value Measurement" in the Notes to Financial Statements.

(o) Investment in affiliate.

(p) Yield changes daily to reflect current market conditions. Rate was the quoted yield as of December 31, 2025.
