Sub-Adviser

Baillie Gifford (Edinburgh, United Kingdom)

Focuses on innovative companies with potentially disruptive business models early in their life-cycles through a collaborative fundamental approach that emphasizes overlooked or underfollowed areas of the market in the belief that only a small number of exceptional companies drive the majority of market returns.

Causeway Capital Management (Los Angeles, CA)

This veteran international equity manager uses a quantitative approach based on a combination of value, growth, quality, momentum, and top-down factors to exploit the pronounced behavioral biases and structural inefficiencies among foreign small-cap stocks.

WCM Investment Management (Laguna Beach, CA)

WCM seeks to build a high conviction portfolio through bottom-up stock selection focused on businesses with superior growth at fair prices driven by strong competitive advantages and great cultures.

As of June 30, 2024. The stocks of small-capitalization companies typically involve potentially greater operational risk and price volatility than larger, more-established companies. Investments in foreign securities are subject to potential adverse fluctuations in foreign currency values, less publicly available information, and the possible imposition of foreign withholding taxes on income payable on the securities. They may be more volatile and less liquid than U.S. securities. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results.
